

Eastern Hemisphere and it's People

KEY PRODUCT FEATURES

- A hardcover or economical soft-cover social studies textbook
- Hi-lo content area reading materials in geography
- Literacy and math skills are incorporated into the content

The Eastern Hemisphere and Its People is a hi-lo geography product for 6th grade students written on a 4-5 grade reading level. It features a 224 page student text, a 64-page assessment workbook, and a 64-page teacher manual. The content covers Europe and Russia, Asia, Africa, and Australia. This workbook teaches five themes of geography (location, place, human-environment interaction, movement, and region). Other features include the regional integration of geography, economics, history, and culture study. Activities on almost every two-page spread scaffolds students use of the critical nonfiction reading strategy of checking for understanding while reading. The Eastern Hemisphere and Its People also uses text features to make content accessible to all students.

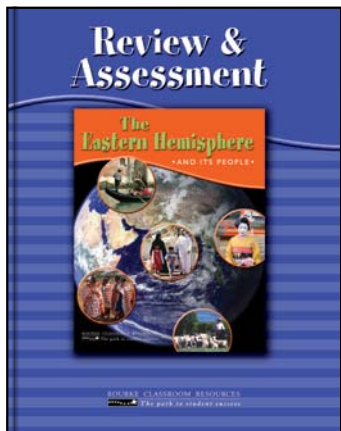

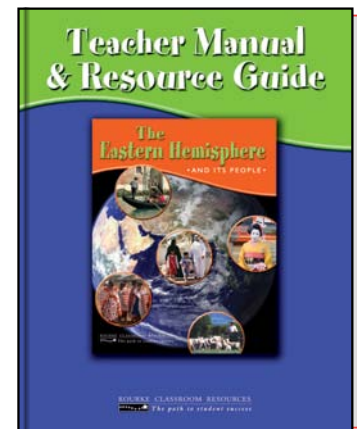

STUDENT BOOK

- Organized into five units
- Unit one features a geography handbook
- Units present an extensively modeled country within the continent unit
- Units end with a comprehension review

TEACHER MANUAL AND RESOURCE GUIDE

A 64-page teacher manual accompanies the student book. The manual contains answer keys as well as additional classroom activities, teaching suggestions, and blackline masters.

REVIEW AND ASSESSMENT

The Student Review and Assessment workbook is modeled after typical state Assessment tests. It guides students in responding to Document Based Questions and Constructed Response Questions and provides a picture based summary of each unit.

Text Features Integrate Critical Nonfiction Reading Strategies and Math Skills Throughout Students' Reading
